From the Office of Education

John P. Walsh, Chief, Trade and Industrial Education, attended a 3-day conference of the American Management Association on Automation in New York City, Oct. 10-12. On Nov. 16 he participated in a Leadership Development Conference for Maryland Trade and Industrial Teachers held in Baltimore.

Several members of the Vocational Division staff were honor guests at Fort Myer, Virginia, Oct. 26, when the Future Farmers of America organization received a citation from the Military District of Washington, commending the FFA for its work in developing "the praiseworthy qualities of agricultural leadership, character, citizenship, and patriotism." Natiinal FFA President Dan Dunham of Lakeview, Ore., accepted the citation, accompanied by Joe Moore, Granville, Tenn., the 1955 Star Farmer of America.

James H. Pearson, Asst. Commissioner, met with a group of five French executives representing government, wholesale and retail trade, and chambers of commerce, visiting this country for the purpose of studying sales training methods used in the U.S. Other recent visitors interested in vocational education included the Director of Vocational Education for Venezuela, a representative of the Canadian Department of Labor, and a team of six educators from Yugoslavia.

The Trade and Industrial Education Branch was represented by Edward G. Ludtke at the Florida City Directors Trade and Industrial Conference, West Palm Beach, Fla., Oct. 13-15; and by Walter H. Cooper at the annual state conference of trade and industrial directors and supervisors at Allerton Park, Ill., Oct. 16-18.

John B. Pope, of the Distributive Education Branch, met with members of the Education Committee of the American Hotel Association to discuss cooperation in educational projects of the Association and its member associations. Plans for an expanded vocational training program are in process of development in the hotel industry. Mr. Pope also met with the counsel of the National Council on Hotel and Restaurant Education to prepare suggested revisions in the Council's constitution to remove resrictions with respect to time and place of the meetings of the Council and its directors.

The four program specialists in the Home Economics Education Branch—Rua Van Horn, Ata Lee, Johnie Christain, and Margaret Alexander—have visited in 22 states this fall. They have worked in the states with Supervisors and Assistant Supervisors and with personnel in institutions training homemaking teachers. The work involved a wide variety of problems which included evaluating the effectiveness of supervisory practices and improving supervision, evaluation of teacher education programs, development of action-research programs, curriculum development at secordary and college level, development of the program of adult homemaking education, and plans for college home economics buildings.

Lois Oliver, Assistant National FHA Adviser, participated in the Fifth National Conference on the United States National Commission for UNESCO held in Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 3-5. The purpose of the conference was to bring together a group of leaders broadly representative of American life for study and appraisal of UNESCO's work to advance the educational, scientific and cultural relations among the people of the world in the cause of peace.

At the request of James H. Pearson, Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Education, a meeting was held in Washington Nov. 3, 4, and 5 to review the operation and activities of the youth organization for students enrolled in the distributive education program. Participants in the meeting included supervisors, directors, a representative of the Chief State School Officers, and staff members of the Division of Vocational Education.

Berenice Mallory left the last of November for a two-year assignment in India as a home economics specialist under a contract between the University of Tennessee and the International Cooperation Administration for assistance in the field of home economics to Indian Institutions. She is on leave from her position as Assistant Chief, Home Economics Education Branch.

Miss Mallory is one of a team of seven home economists who will be working with higher institutions in India to develop their home economics programs. She is to be at Lady Irwin College in New Delhi.

Walter H. Cooper, of the Trade and Industrial Education Branch, attended a meeting of the Education Committee of the American Welding Society held at Philadelphia, Oct. 17-21. Thirty members were present. The meeting was held in connection with the annual metals exposition.

Members of the Home Economics Education Branch have served as consultants at four regional meetings of college foods and nutrition teachers held during October and November. The purpose of the meetings was to clarify problems which exist in the teaching of foods and nutrition and to plan ways to improve the instruction. Johnie Christian participated in the meeting at Chicago, Ill.; Ata Lee and Beulah Coon at Shreveport, La.; and Rua Van Horn at Salt Lake City, Utah, and Phoenix, Ariz.

H. B. Swanson, Assistant Chief, Agricultural Education, was at East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 14-17, at the meeting of the Association of Land Grant Colleges, working with the Committee on Criteria for Institutions Training or Preparing to Train Teachers of Vocational Education in Agriculture.

John Farrar, of the Future Farmers of America staff, attended meetings in Chicago, Ill., Nov. 25-Dec. 1, of the National Association of Radio and Television Farm Editors, the American Association of Agricultural Editors, and the 4-H Club Congress.

A Selected Bibliography on Industrial Technological Advances, with Particular Emphasis on Automation has just been compiled by Howard K. Hogan of the Trade and Industrial Branch. Copies have been sent to State Directors, Trade and Industrial Supervisors, and Teacher Trainers. This Miscellany, No. 3494, is available from the Trade and Industrial Education Branch.
